editing _ proofreading _ other writings

Mandy Conidaris has edited a number of different theses and dissertations of Masters' and PhD students of mine within the field of Cognitive Neuroscience.

I highly recommend Mandy's editorial services as she is extremely professional, and in every instance, the edited work has reflected a substantial improvement from the original, without losing the student's own voice in the writing.

I will continue to use Mandy's service as she is able to offer the skilled editing required for this specific kind of academic writing.

Mandy Conidaris provided excellent editorial assistance to me during the process of completing my thesis.

An MA(FA) requires a critical analysis of contemporary art discourse, which includes an in-depth study and application of current philosophical debates. The thesis length has to be around 50 000 words.

Her editing was rigorous and insightful, applying detailed changes and recommendations whilst being mindful to retain my voice as a writer. She has an excellent command of the English language as well as the ability to assist in producing a succinct argument.

Mandy's editing skills go far beyond simply editing. Her eye for overall design and how this supports and reinforces the communication of the message puts her in a class of her own.

If you need someone who is exceptional in editing and preparing written media, Mandy Conidaris is the right person to approach.

She has helped me in correcting, condensing, and organising university assignments, my BVA dissertation and various short documents like artist's statements and proposals.

She will assist you to produce work that is accurate, consistent, and complete.

No matter what it is you are writing, it's important to make use of a skilled editor as it's tough to assess your own work.

Mandy Conidaris offers an objective point of view on your written work, whether you are writing a final year dissertation or a review for a blog.

Her feedback is constructive and always aims for the positive, making it easier to cope with her recommendations or critique!

Most importantly, she maintains your authorial voice at all times, a quality especially valued in any great editor.
